

HIGHLIGHTS 2

It is traditional to apologize for the lack of a definite theme in describing a school year. The staff of 1970 HIGHLIGHTS asks no forgiveness. In this book you will find joy, sorrow, exhilaration, accomplishment, introspection and wonder all spun together within the confines of a year caressed and blistered by the seasons.

We have molded the whole, and provided the windows for insight. This book is your mirror, the reflections are yours. You must give this year your own definition, and it will be as meaningful, creative, and alive as you are.

An individual stretches to grasp a complete circle,
Complete, yet made up of unique parts
Each vibrating rainbow reflections,
Each making the other whole and full —

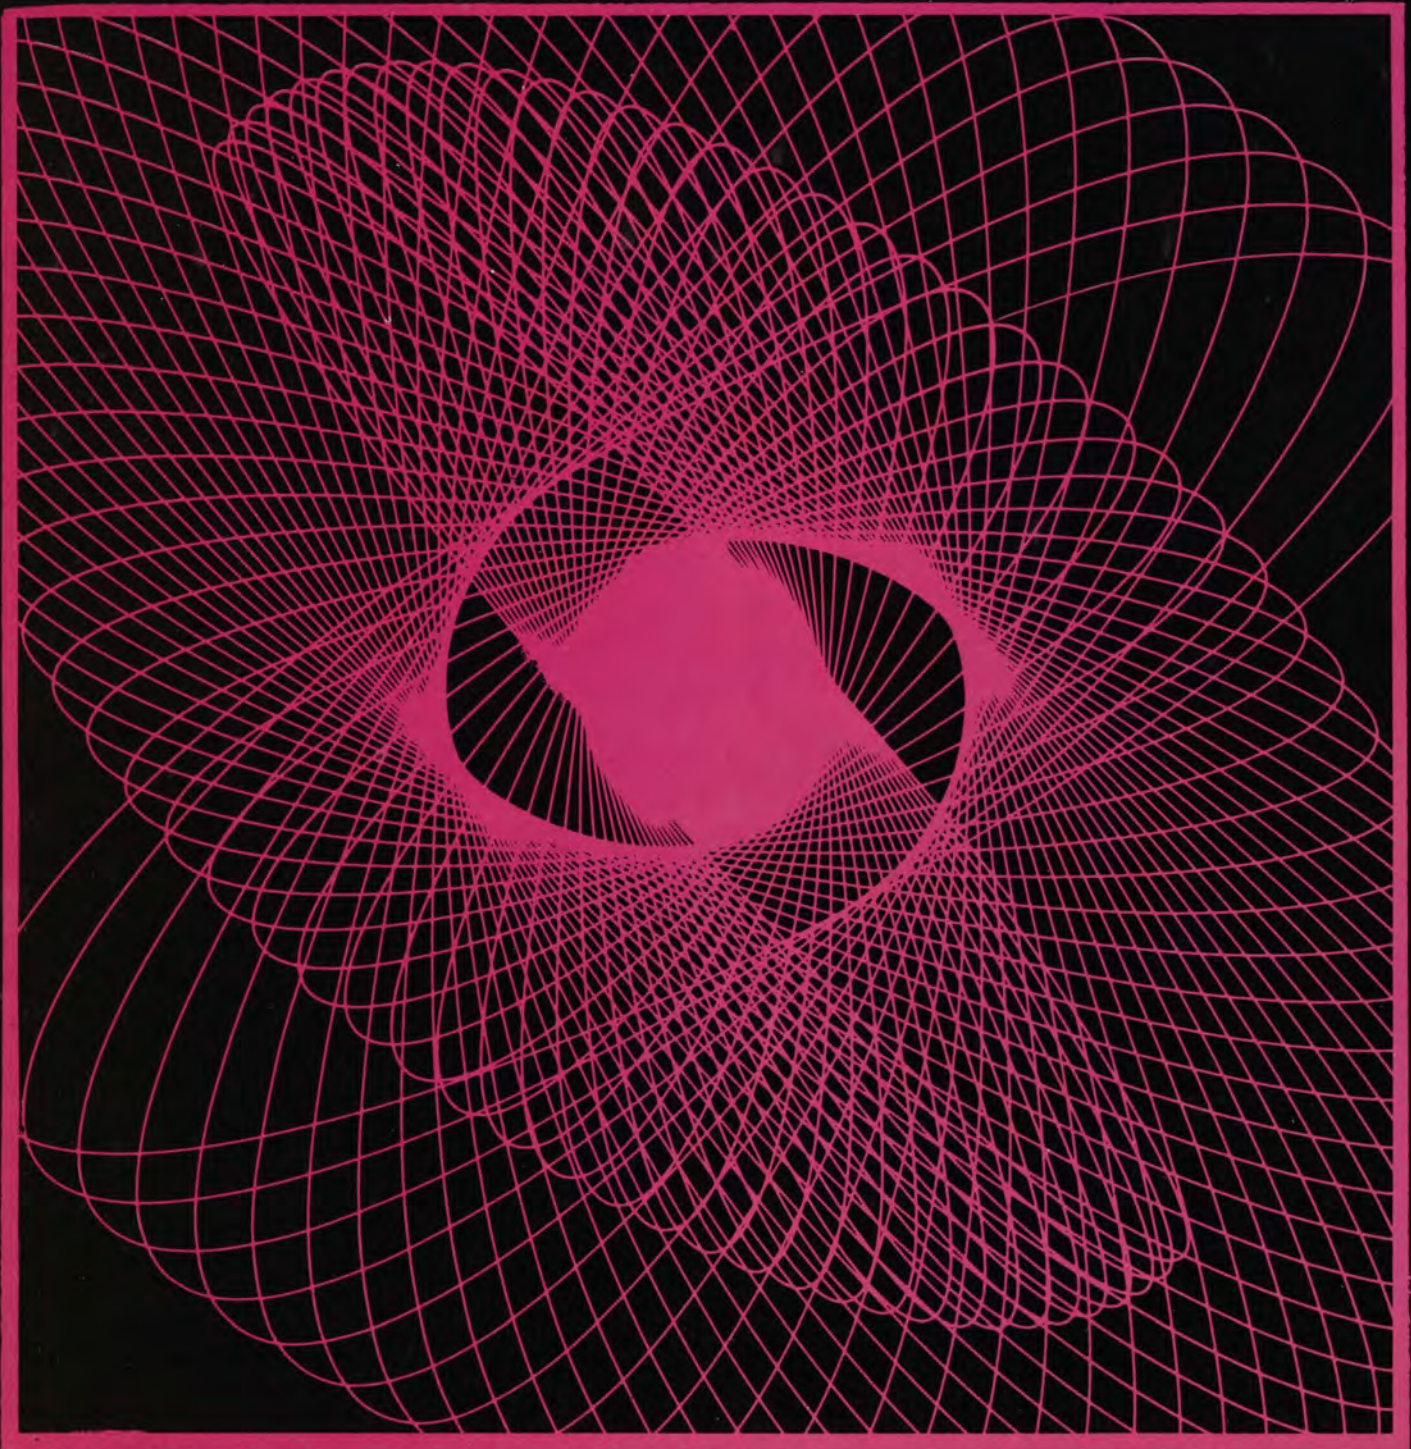

In perspective . .

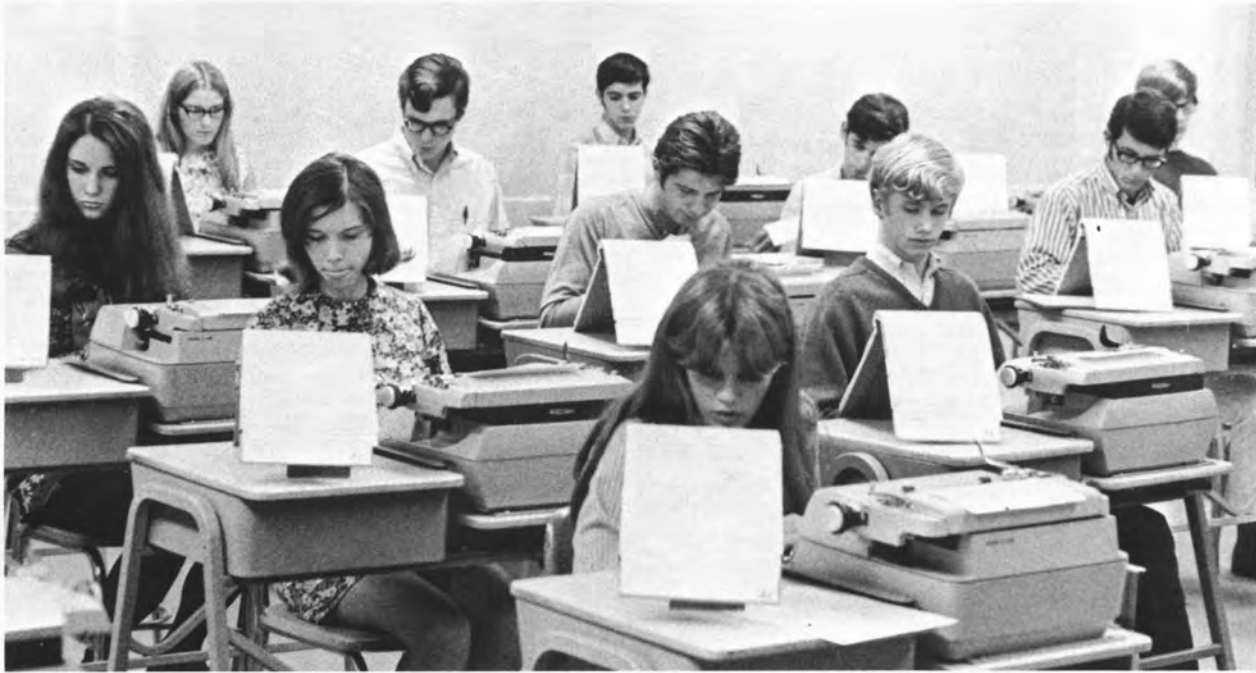

No ordinary circle — its parts are individuals,
Dazzling, shimmering crystal reflections
Individuals whose symmetrical sides are orbiting shapes
Each separate and whole yet interlocked with others

In perspective . . .

A circle is a figure with no beginning, and no end.

We are all circles.

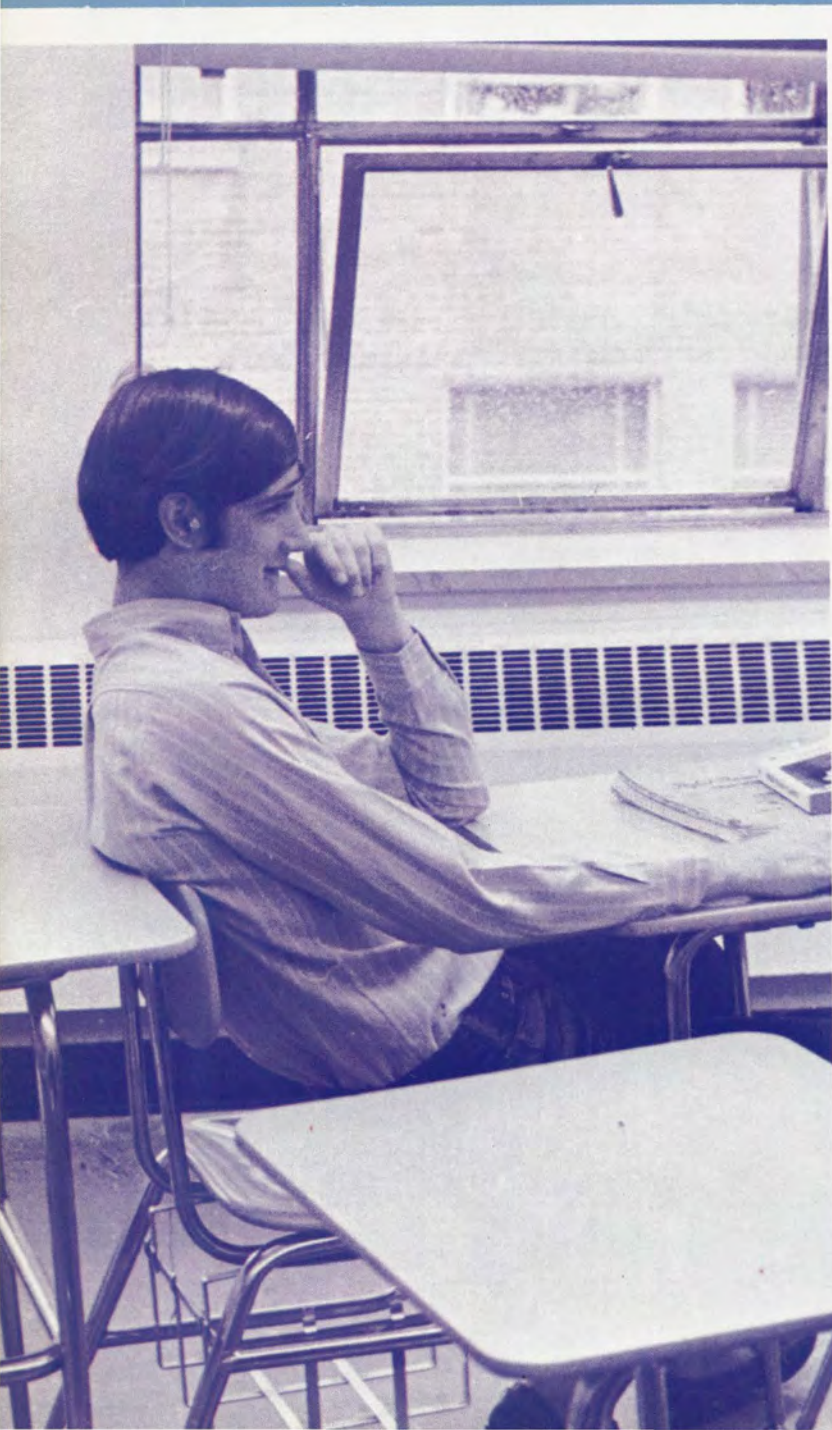

ACADEMICS

Through academics, a student's facets are molded to give depth and meaning to his world, and to himself. We ask endless questions, and obtain the answers through academics. In Pittsford, a diversified program of studies is available to meet and satisfy our interests, and crystallize our education.

Through these studies an important component of perspective is grasped — imagination, the power to interpret ideas. Channels of vision spread to envelope knowledge. Conclusions are drawn, and we begin to realize the scope of our own minds.

Academics serve to expand our vision of the present, and to prepare us for the future. Only through wisdom and knowledge can we hope to change our troubled world, and only through them can we ever reach the point where we can touch the sky.

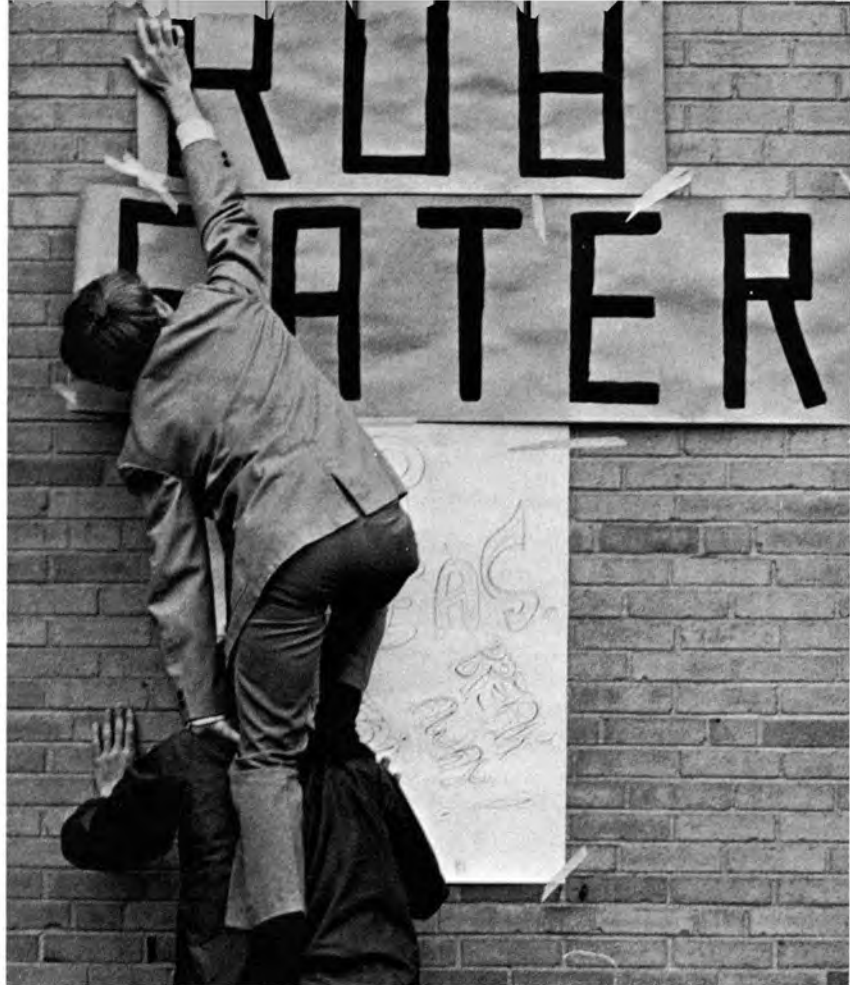

ACTIVITIES

Angles and aspects of a student's character are shaped by informal activities. Through these activities we find our identities, who we are, and where we belong. An academic education is brought into perspective by this social balance.

As perspective suggests a convergence of separate lines to make a meaningful whole, so does our social world converge with our other worlds to form each one of us into the complex person he is.

While striving for acceptance, we pattern the course of our future lives. We give of ourselves . . . serve others . . . and work for cooperation and understanding. These experiences help us to realize our ideals and those of others as important factors in the shifting scene which is our school, our community, our world. And through this, we are proving ourselves to be capable of accepting the responsibilities as the leaders . . . and the followers . . . of tomorrow.

PITTSFORD: PEOPLE, PLACES, AND THINGS

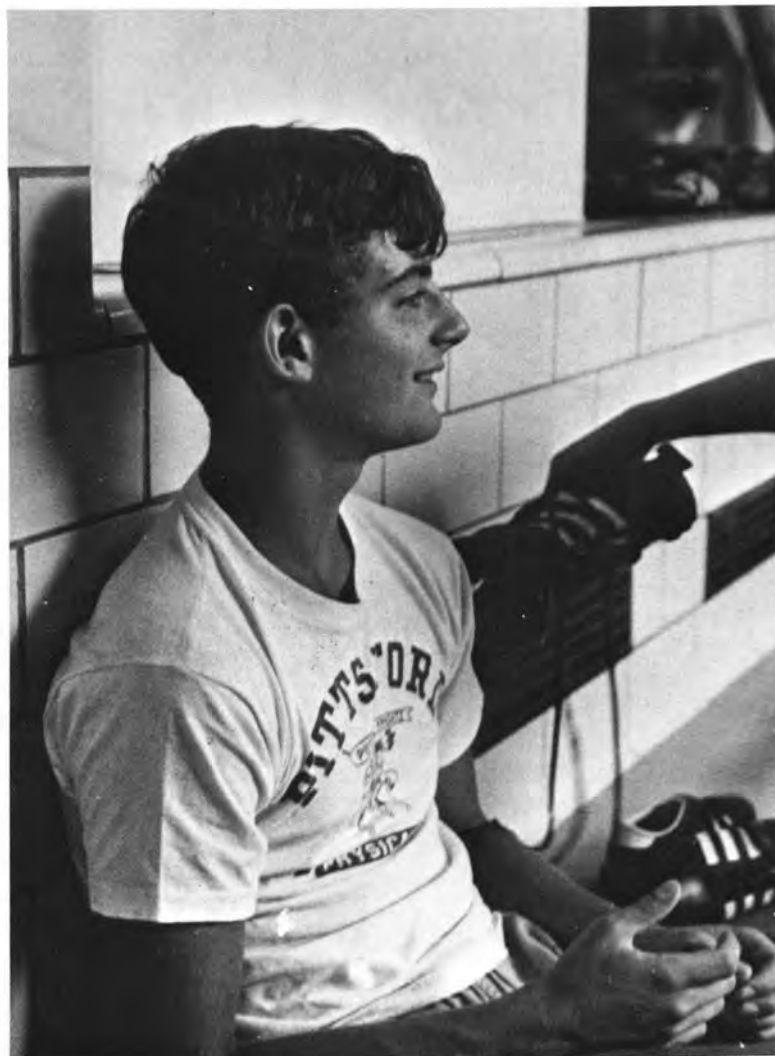

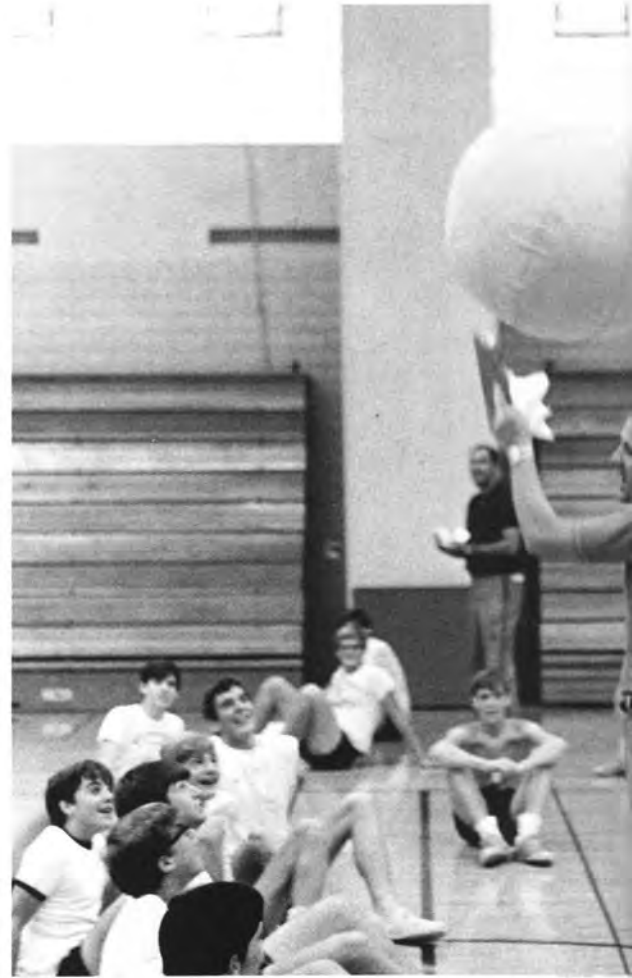

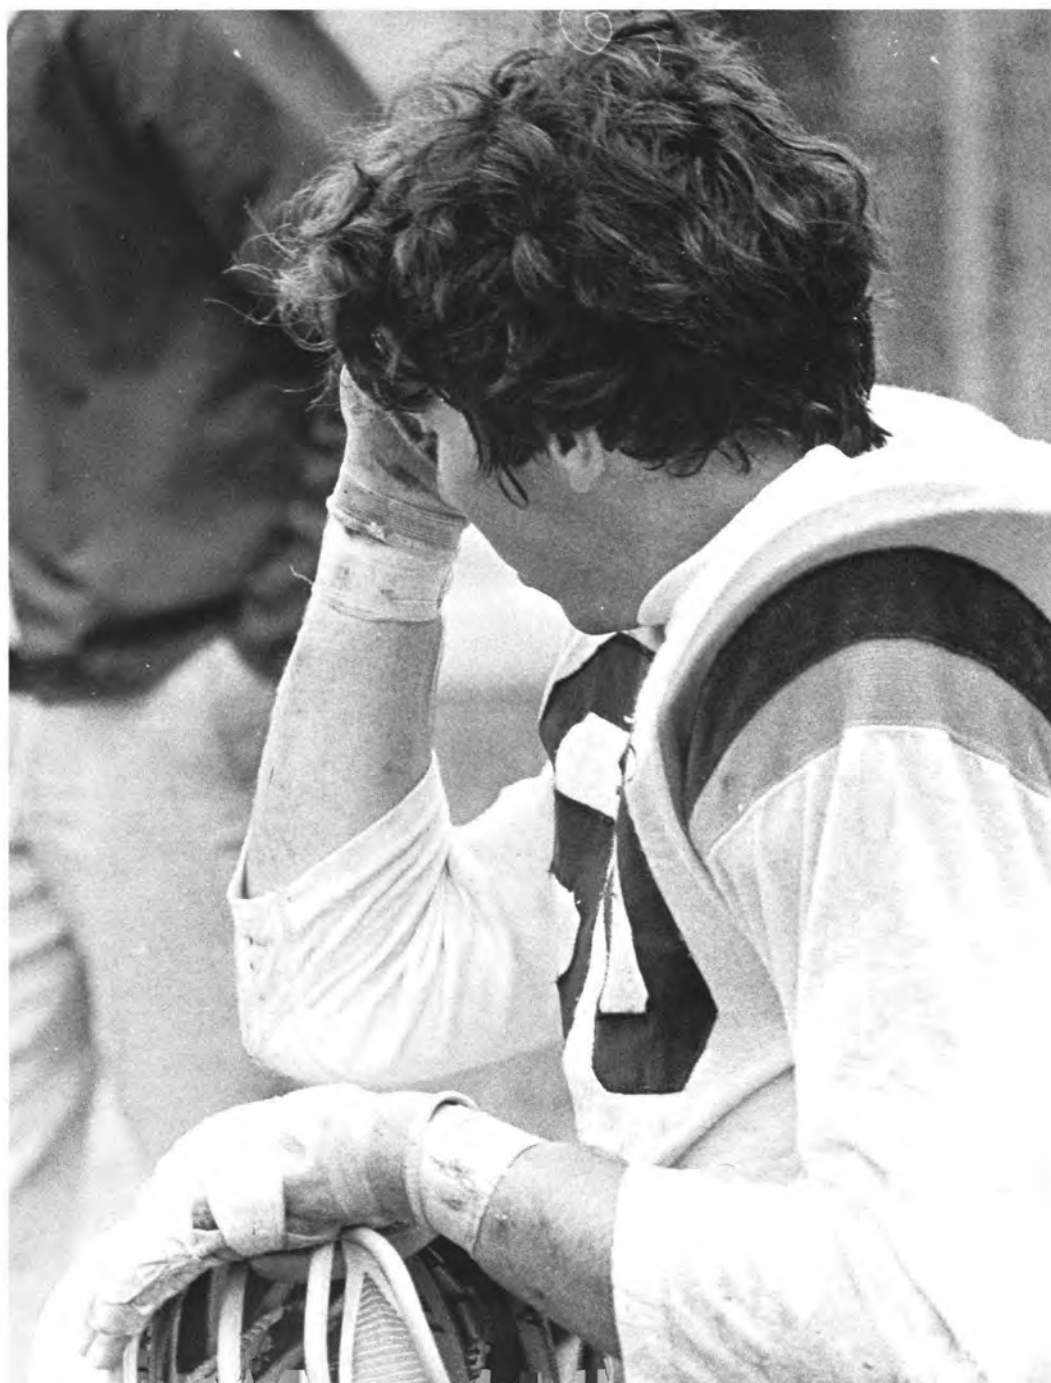

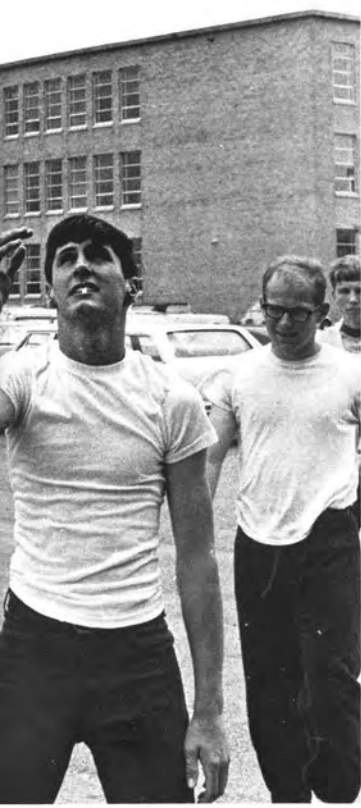

ATHLETICS

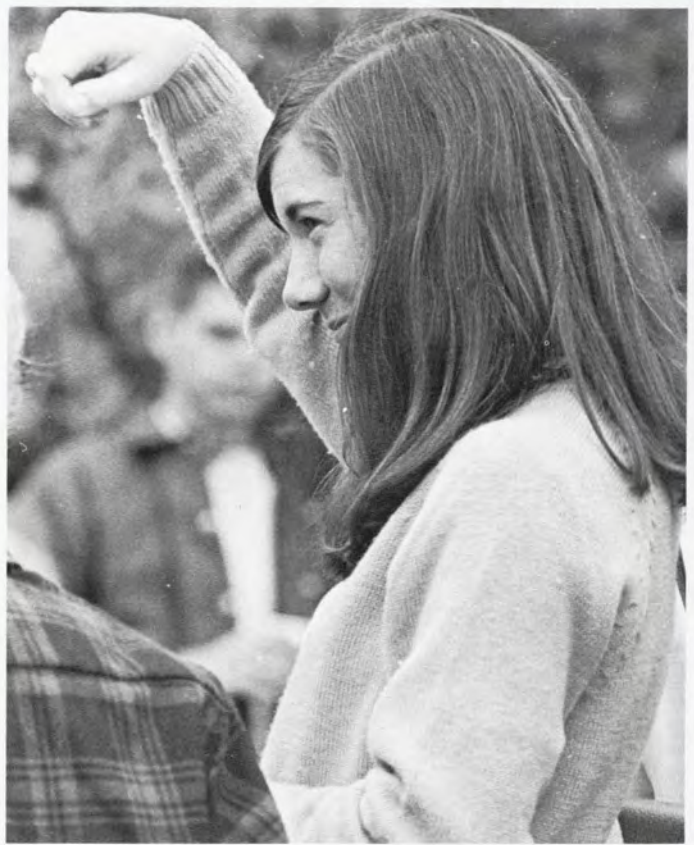

Emergence of physical prowess and broadening of a sportsmanlike outlook contribute to another phase of an individual's education. Our sense of values are sharpened, and physical dependence is strengthened. Satisfaction through personal achievement contributes to the appreciation of individual worth, and physical readiness enables us to function effectively in all aspects of school life.

Goals are set high, and are met through competition, determination, and cooperation. Through athletics, we achieve important qualities — understanding, teamwork, discipline — but most of all, the knowledge that true victory lies in the ability to smile and accept defeat.

ME...

Slowly, the tracings and intertwinings of one of the cycles of my life is becoming complete.

After all these years of struggling, I find myself at the top,
already looking back on past years with nostalgia, (Gee, when I was a kid . . .),
and into the future with anticipation.

I hover on the brink of adulthood, dreaming impossible dreams, wondering if I will ever touch the sky . . .

YOU...

You, the underclassmen, have many challenges ahead.

You are just beginning on a long quest, with the objective of finding yourself at the end of it.

Your patterns seem confused now, but as you participate in all aspects of school life, the confusion will become ordered.

And the patterns will fall into their places . . .
and you will become yourself.

We're beginning to find ourselves, to know who and what we are, what we will be . . .
but do we know each other?

We're finding our own talents, recognizing our hopes and fears, planning for a yet-hidden future . . .

but are we aware of those around us?

Blind to others feeling the same fears, hoping the same hopes, finding the same frustrations?

We're not blind, but sensitive, and aware of the changes that draw us apart, which make us distinct from each other. We're individuals, but respecting each other, we strengthen a trace of maturity.

WE . . .

Cheering for something that is more than a stuffed animal in a certain basket . . .

Fighting for more than a few meaningless points . . .

Striving together for that intangible something called Victory.

SPRING SPORTS

Be it
the smack of the bat,
the plunk of the racket,
the swish of the club,
or the driving patter
of racing feet,
I KNOW spring is here.
And with spring and all the sports activities it brings,
there is one sure fact,
There's gonna be lots of RAIN and lots of postponed games, matches, and meets!

US...

Activities serve to take the pattern created by scholastic and athletic achievements, and make it whole.

Our clubs help to create interest in various careers, true, but more important, they give us joy . . .

Joy in new-found skills, joy in new-found friends,
and joy in ourselves.

And it is joy which gives that shimmer to life,
that makes everything worthwhile.

THE SWINGER'S GUIDE

Art Club . . . Miss J. Culver . . .	Color, design, structure, all go into the artist's brush or pen . . . and come out rainbows, acrylic art, and even protest signs. Art club is a place where those with artistic talent can learn to take a picture in their minds and put it on canvas for someone else to enjoy.
Astronomy Club . . . Mr. H. Northrup . . .	MAN WALKS ON MOON — 10:56 p.m., Sunday, July 20, 1969. "That's one small step for man. One giant leap for mankind." Analyzing the heavenly bodies . . . the mysteries, the beauties, the ever-ending question . . . are we the only ones?
Boy's Leaders Club . . . Mr. C. Miller . . .	Popcorn, intramurals, leadership, popcorn, sportsmanship, lots of fun and more popcorn . . . they lead P.C.S. in Spirit.
Bridge Club . . . Mr. T. O'Brien . . .	"One spade", "Two no-trump", "Game", "Grand Slam!" Tension mounts with the bidding. As the photograph in this section indicates, the players become highly emotional at times. But it's all in fun, and as the game ends, "That wasn't a great game — you should have seen the hand I had yesterday!"
Cygnets . . . Mrs. A. DeMay, Mrs. L. Conley	Legs flashing from the water, perfectly synchronized. Swans, marlins, splashing dolphins, red eyes, tired muscles, and a wet happiness . . .
Cygnets Managers . . . Mrs. L. Conley . . .	A mass of creative talent and beauty handling the technical aspects of Cygnets . . . decorating, music, lighting, making the production groove together with good vibrations.
Debate Club . . . Mr. A. Glossner . . . Mrs. B. Vinal	Affirmative vs. Negative . . . you've got to use more than emotion to back up your ideas . . . using all the logic and the persuasive powers at your command. Competition in six states . . . victory over the other team, only to find out that you still can't talk your father into raising your allowance.
Dramatics Club . . . Miss Sharon Beasom . . .	The never-ending practice, working frantically behind the scenes, the right color greasepaint, the sore throat on opening night. Can the audience hear your heart pounding? Making a character live for the audience, and bowing to the roar of a standing ovation . . .
French Club . . . Miss M. Sheehan . . .	Parlez-vous français? If you do, then you are welcome to join the Cercle Français. An art show, a banquet, maybe not a trip to France but a lot of fun.
Future Teachers Club . . . Mr. R. Begg . . . Miss E. Lauffer	To be a teacher . . . to inspire thought, to open young minds, to help others find themselves through learning. The great fulfillment sought by members of this club . . .
Girl's Leaders Club . . . Mrs. K. Boardman . . .	Teams, points, goals, fouls, and helping the gym teachers. Learning how to win, and how to lose . . . our great white gym-suited leaders strike again!
Highlights . . . Mr. G. Day . . .	Yearbooks should reflect the concerns of students in P.C.S. Does it? Hundreds of hours . . . demanding, challenging, creative, an intellectual experience. Having work done for yesterday by today, and to perfection if not better.
Health Careers Club . . . Mrs. L. Price . . .	Preparing for a possible career in medicine . . . who knows, you may be the first woman doctor to transplant a human heart! Learning to care for others, to help them with your wisdom and efficiency . . .
Homemaking Club . . . Mrs. E. Kelly . . .	Stylish cloth and fashionable patterns formed into your own special creation, (Dior would have been proud.) And in the kitchen . . . would you believe Cordon Bleu? (How about a simple spaghetti dinner?) Preparing for the important role of mother and homemaker . . .
Key Club . . . Mr. P. Crooker . . .	Not a club for collecting keys but one of service and giving. Opening the doors to help the needy . . . through unselfish giving of themselves, perhaps they will find a key that will open the doors to solutions to some of the problems of our Great Society.
Library Club . . . Mrs. M. Butler . . .	Chortling over fines, cleaning social comment from the desks, filing and refiling endless stacks of books, (oh curse you Melvil Dewey). Signing out cards and running the Pocket Picker, keeping the most mind-expanding section of our school running.
Math Club . . . Miss H. Sullivan . . .	Sine, cosine, tangent, secant, square root x pie r^2 . . . what? Could you put that into apples and oranges? Learning to fit the world into a perfect equation . . .
National Honor Society . . . Mrs. M. Spicer . . .	"Brains, Browns" — call them what you will, these are the kids who've made it. The ones willing to work hard enough to keep those averages. Possessing scholarship, leadership, and character, the intelligentsia give their time to worthwhile activities and services in order to show our society that all kids aren't bad.
Operators Club . . . Mr. H. Northrup . . .	The frustration of a broken film, the satisfaction of achieving technical perfection. The wonder of captured time flickering on the screen . . .
Oppostodamus . . . Mr. R. Taylor . . .	Discussing titles (Hey, how about I AM CURIOUS, PURPLE AND GOLD?). A chorus of groans. Putting together a collection of ink-printed paper expressing another person's thoughts. Including those contributions whose authors dare to bare a bit of their souls so that others may share a feeling . . .
Pep Club . . . Mrs. M. Arnitz . . .	Tirelessly popping popcorn, putting on skits, breathing SPIRIT into the apathetic student body. Painting posters, attending games, showing the teams that someone cares . . .
Photography Club . . . Miss J. Culver . . .	Composition, lighting, delicate focus . . . finding the angle that will best trap the movement and hold it forever . . .
Psychology Club . . . Miss M. Sullivan . . .	Films, discussions, testing for E.S.P. . . . "I had this weird dream last night!" Exploring that fantastic region known as the human — mind . . .
Rifle Club . . . Mr. G. Fish . . .	Applying for hunting licenses, learning safety rules, loading, reloading, shooting in the snow . . . "What do you mean, shoot the pigeon? What pigeon?" The clay pigeons shatter to the ground . . .
Secretarial Club . . . Mrs. M. Hughes . . .	Swiftly flashing fingers, confident in their skill, clicking typewritten communications. Preparation for a business career . . . the fingers continue, perhaps someday to type out a new song, a new poem, a memo to the president . . .
Spectator . . . Mrs. G. Blazey . . .	What do you mean, you don't know what "positive entropy" is? Doing their own thing, one of the most important elements in society . . . communication. Marshall McLuhan, what are you doing?
Student Council . . . Mr. R. Lenio . . .	Providing a meaningful experience in representative government, maintaining an active dialogue with the administration, and sponsoring a variety of social events . . . the kids who make the whole thing run.
United Nations Club . . . Mrs. S. Lowe . . .	R.A.U.N. meetings, representing different countries, speakers, banquets, discussions on current news topics. A trip to New York City, a glimpse of world representatives. A building of ideals and ideas for carrying them out. World War 3 . . . never?

MEMORANDA

Faculty

Office

GRADE _____
DATE 11-17-69

Answer all items by mark only one description them for all all students.

THEM...

Patiently smoothing and polishing our rough facets of knowledge.

They give us the precious gift of knowledge,
and the more precious gift of themselves.

They give impossible homework assignments, and impossible tests, and more impossible grades . . .

But after all,
it takes a lot of pressure to form a diamond.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Row 1: L. William Coulter, M.D., President; Mrs. Doris B. Adolphson, Clerk; J. Raymond Sutcliffe; Mrs. Philip Packard. Row 2: Robert L. Summerhays;

Arthur M. Holtzman, Jr.; Edwin O. Kriedemann, M.D.; Robert L. Craven, Vice-President.

In New York State, local control of education is exercised for the people by the Board of Education. This body sets the policies which govern the educational offerings in Pittsford. During the past year the members have been occupied with an extensive building program, difficult financial planning, including cutbacks in some programs, personnel matters, student involvement, and evaluation of the inner-city program.

We are fortunate to have these people volunteering countless hours to the course of better education for the students of Pittsford.

I have never let my schooling interfere with my education.

ADMINISTRATION

Don't fall into the common idea that the mind is a warehouse and education is but a process of stuffing it full of goods.

When I was a student
I was quiet.
I didn't protest,
I didn't riot.

I wasn't unwashed,
I wasn't obscene,
I made no demands
Of principal or dean.

I sat in no sit-in,
I heckled no speaker,
I broke not a window,
Few students were meeker.

I'm forced to admit,
With some hesitation,
All I got out of school
Was an education.

Will we ever reach the point where the road touches the sky?

There is no point,
There is only moving.
We leave ourselves behind.
Our wheels unwind us.
What do we find at the end?
Ourselves again, but changed.

Alastair Reid

EVERYONE

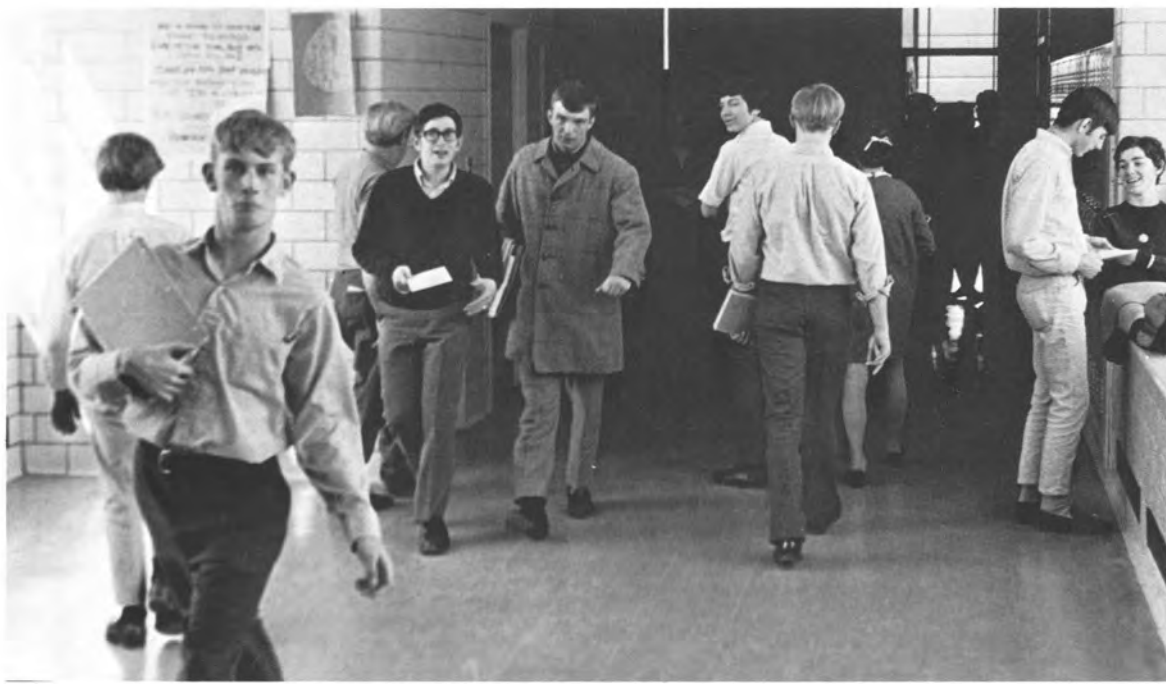

A circle is said to be self-complete, and it is.

An atom is self-complete, but not until combined with others does it become a whole substance.

It takes many atoms to form a raindrop,
and many atoms to form a diamond.

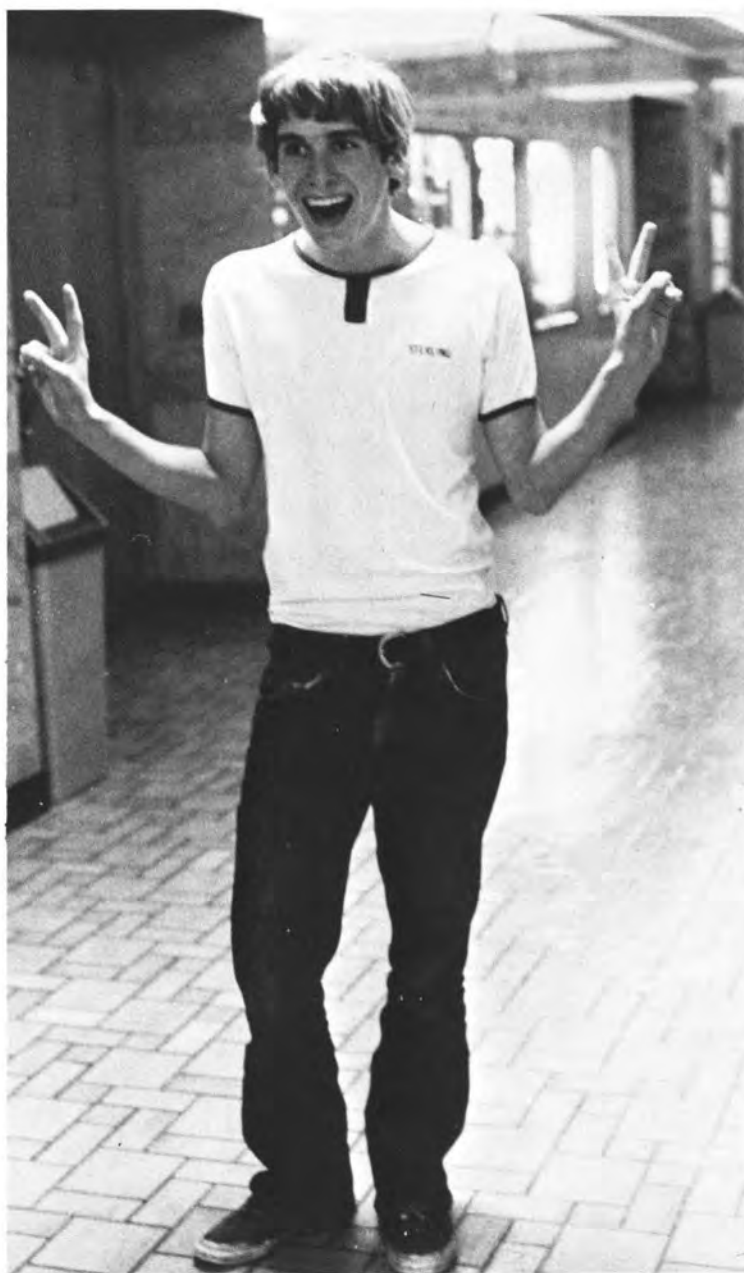

Like atoms, we are individual,
yet interdependent, merging circles.

And if we grow together, what does life become . . .
perhaps a more perfect and peaceful world?

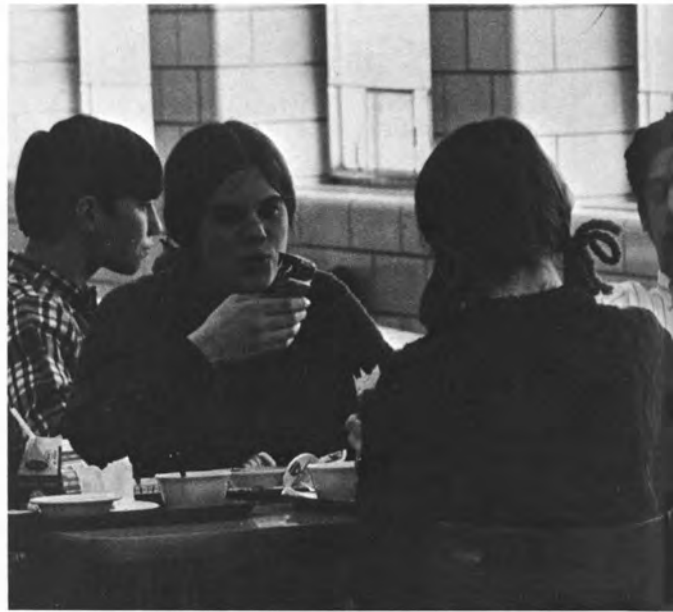

I am one of 1,200 students at Pittsford Central School. Tired and unassured of my thinking, I arrive at school at 8:05 A.M. for my first class. My feet plod over part of the 205,000 square feet of hallways and classrooms to my locker, number 105.

Love, he

At P.C.S., I find 83 teachers, 4 administrators, and 6 guidance counselors. My pupil-counselor ratio is about 250:1. My class size varies between 10 to 100 students. My student number is 105481.

I need a minimum of 16 credits for a regular high school diploma, and 18 credits for a Regents certified diploma. I spend 4,329,000 seconds, 72,150 minutes, 1,202.50 hours, or approximately 14% of the year in school.

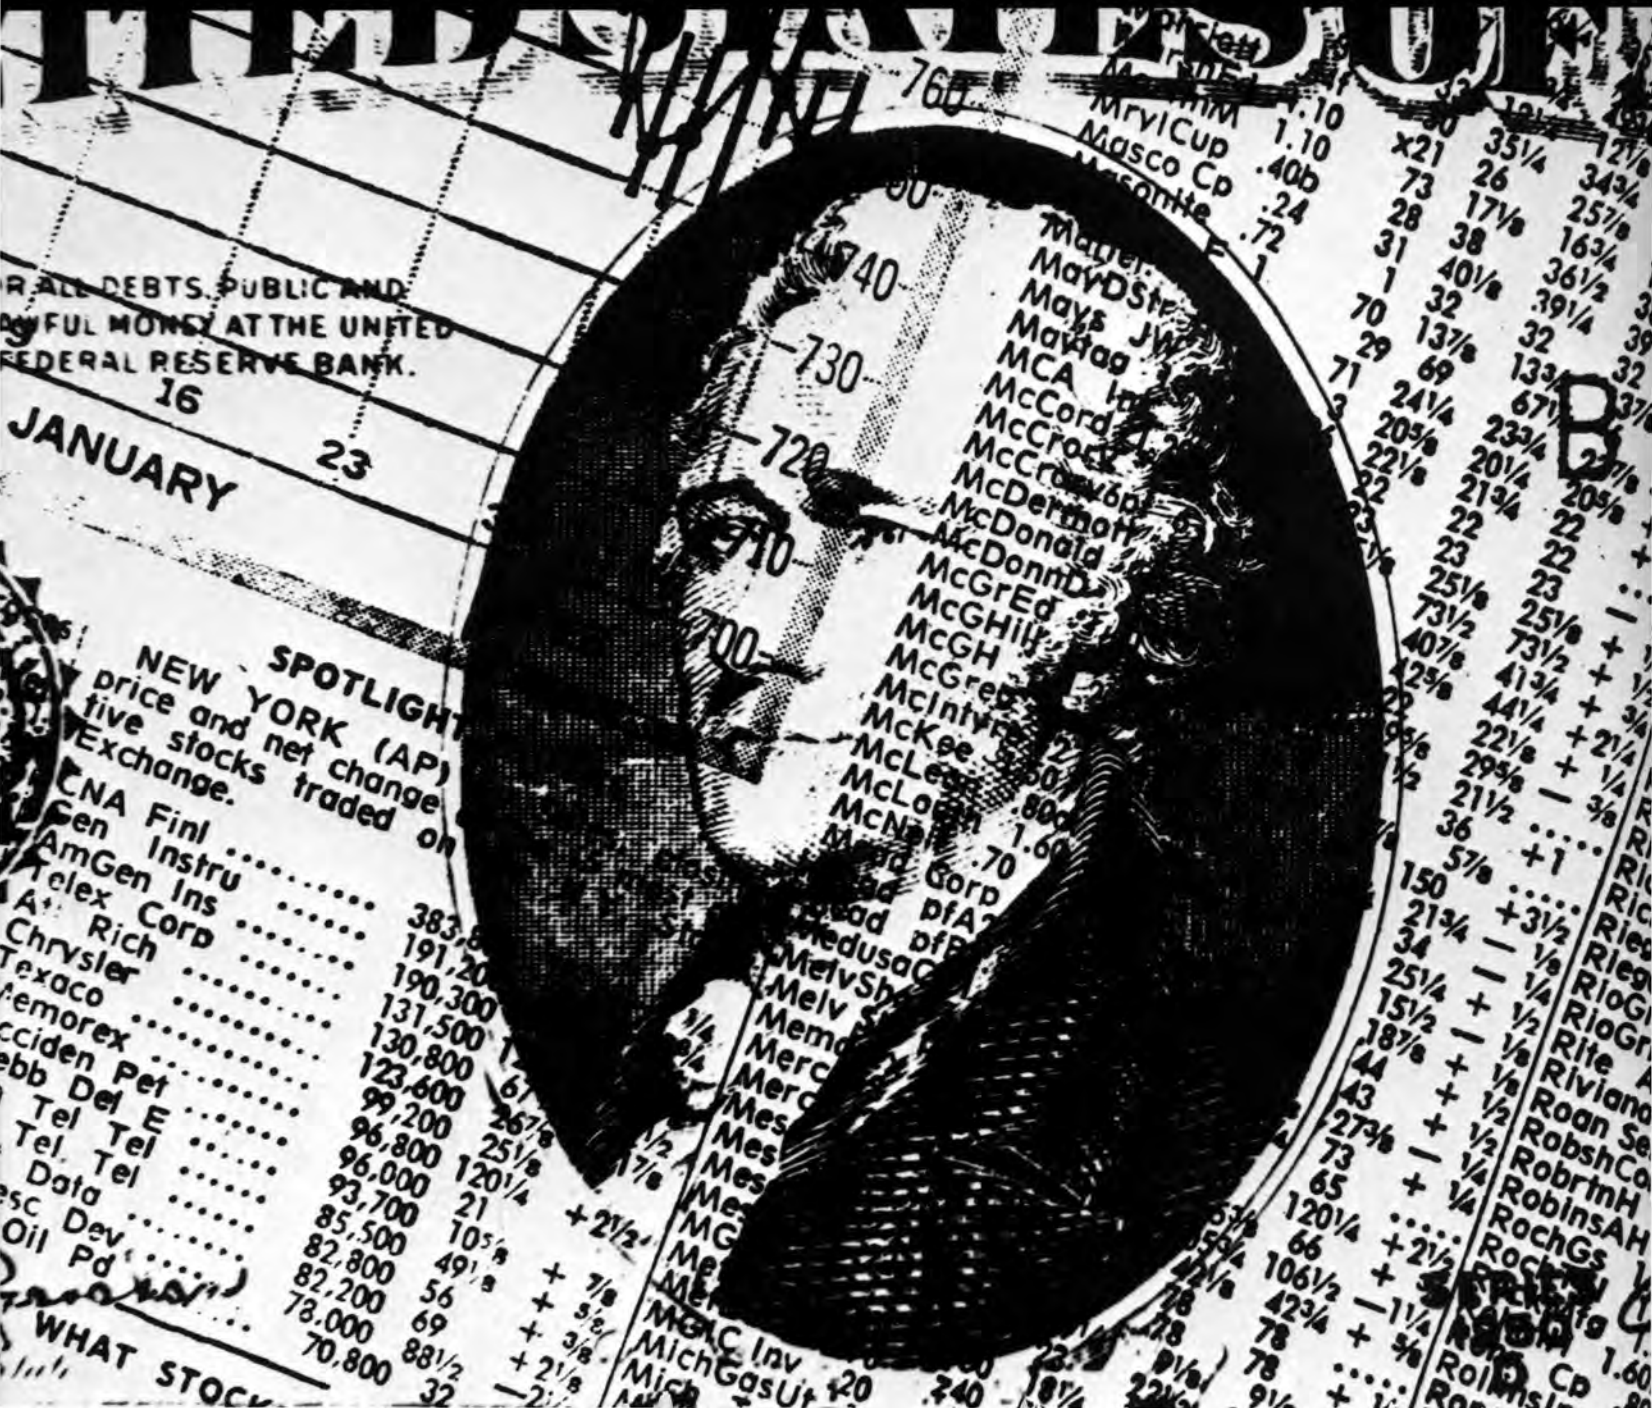

After 7 periods of school, I may go home at 2:10 PM. or stay and participate in one of the 32 activities and 12 sports offered at P.C.S.

Out of thousands of faces and numbers, midst hallways, stairways, and rooms bulging with human beings, I exist. I am an individual. I am cool.

Once upon a time, in the days when Unicorns and dragons roamed the earth, there lived a creature called a Knupff. It was a funny looking beast with no definite shape. Knupffs were very useful animals because they would feast on all the evils in the world. They'd breakfast on greed, lunch on hate, and dine on ignorance. Wherever the Knupffs roamed there was Peace.

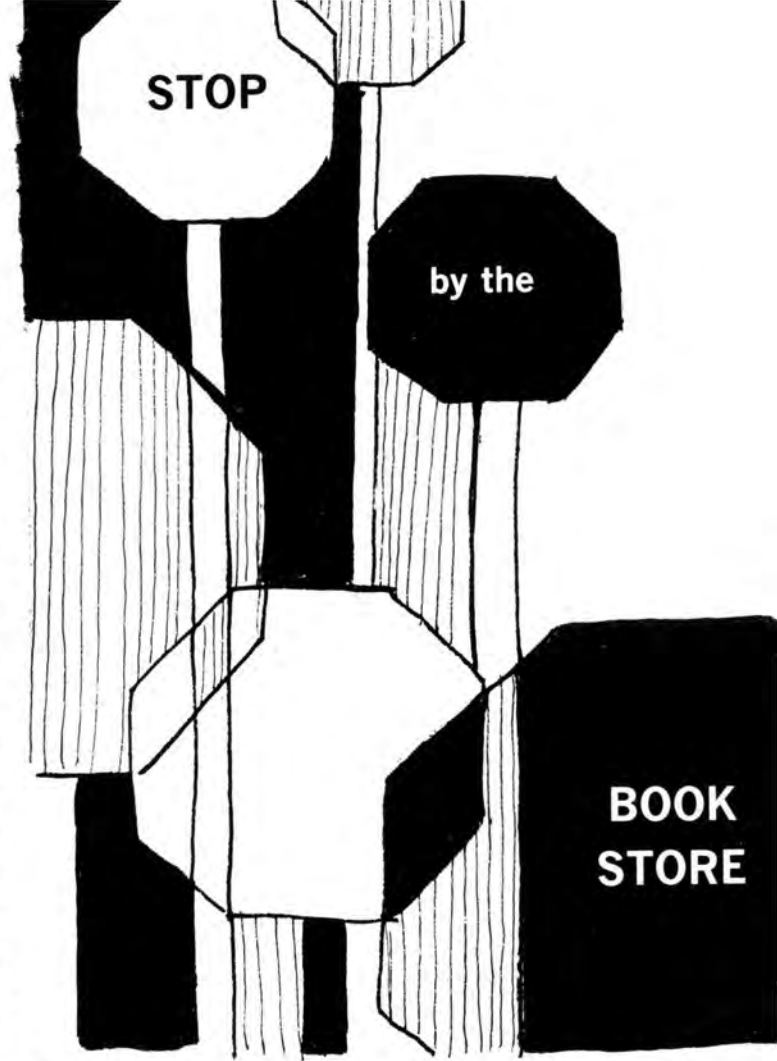

But alas, the Knupffs became extinct for lack of evils to feast on. With the loss of these fabulous creatures, the evils came back and have been multiplying right up to today. Hate, greed and ignorance, along with the other evils can be found today in the hearts of mankind. We must take up the job that the Knupffs performed and wipe the evils from the hearts of our fellow men.

Let's give Peace a chance...

HIGHLIGHTS ZO

This book was pre-created by the above HIGHLIGHTS staff members who are now either vacationing in the Bahamas, residing at the Happy Valley Home for the Disadvantaged, or serving in the French Foreign Legion.

Highlights 1969-70

HOW TO MAKE A HIT YEARBOOK:

Select two dozen talented and tenacious people . . . stir in some ideas and insights over a timely theme . . . after shopping around for good quality photography, mix it in with expert layout techniques to create a well-balanced mixture.

Let this montage slowly simmer for six months, adding the correct amount of creativity and originality to suit your taste. After aging three months, the finished product is ready to experience.

STAFF:

MARY BERENS	Senior section editor
JAN SUTCLIFFE	Underclassmen section editor
KAREN KUMMER and JEB COX	Sports section co-editors
